PROGRESS REPORT ON THE UTILIZATION OF UNTFAD RESOURCES IN 1989 AND 1990

INTRODUCTION

1. The United Nations Trust Fund for African Development (UNTFAD) is now almost four years since its inception by the Secretary-General of United Nations in consultation with the Economic Commission for Africa (ECA).

2. The rationale behind its establishment is now well known and rehearsed through the previous pledging conferences. The outstanding single motivation is the need for African countries to make a conscious effort through the spirit of self-reliance, to contribute towards the implementation of the Lagos Plan of Action (LPA) for self-sustaining growth. Over the years however the regional needs have not only expanded but also assumed new dimensions and complexity.

3. The 1980's for instance, described by many of the region's economists as, "a lost decade" witnessed one of the worst economic and social crisis in history. Per capita income fell by 1.7 per cent yearly, gross fixed capital formation by 1.9 per cent, export volumes by 2.7 per cent, import volume by 3 per cent, commodity prices by 3.1 per cent while unemployment increased four times faster than in the 1970's.<sup>1</sup>

4. It is against such a background for the 1980's that compelled the Secretary-General of the United Nations to call upon the thirty-seventh session of the General Assembly to adopt special measures for social and economic recovery for the African region. Among the measures considered were the adoption of resolution 37/139 whereby the General Assembly invited donor countries to "provide substantial and sustained levels of resources for promoting the accelerated development of African countries and the effective implementation of the Lagos Plan of Action and contribute generously to UNTFAD". The economic strategies adopted since the mid-eighties were intended to meet the regional priority areas as spelled out in the United Nations Programme for African Economic Recovery and Development (UN-PAAERD). However, since then, it has become clearer that development goals in the 1990s would have to be oriented towards not only recovery but also to restructuring and transformation. This orientation has resulted in the adoption of the African Alternative Framework to Structural Adjustment Programmes for Socio and Economic Recovery and Transformation (AAF-SAP).

5. The basic thrust of African Alternative Framework for Structural Adjustment Programmes (AAF-SAP) is to provide a framework which allows adjustment programmes non-disruptive to the Lagos Plan of Action (LPA).

6. The outlook for this decade increasingly shows that African countries have to strive hard to seek internal solutions to the economic crisis. One area which will call for more attention to this inward search for solution is the mobilization of resources. External resources will most likely experience relative decrease as a result of impending single European market. Already large volumes of resources are actually or planned for diversion away from the traditional third world beneficiaries and channelled to new demands particularly of Eastern Europe. Thus UNTFAD as a vital funding source for the coming years has assumed new prominence.

7. It is against this background that the current pledging conference has to be situated. A pledging conference in which so much is expected if mounting needs has to be met and yet a conference taking place at a time when most African countries are still going through the economic crisis.

I. STATUS OF PLEDGING CONTRIBUTIONS AND THEIR PAYMENTS

8. Table 1 shows the seven pledging conferences that have taken place since the establishment of UNTFAD during which contributions have been pledged and subsequent payments made:

10. It should be noted that the total contributions to UNTFAD have been decreasing over the years as evident from the figures given in table 1. Payments have similarly not been made as promptly for the subsequent pledged contributions.

11. Regarding the actual payments made from the pledges to UNTFAD, the situation is indicated in tables (3) and (4).

12. The pattern of contribution of each member country show that even countries which started enthusiastically by making relatively large contributions have over the period slackened. Although the list of countries pledging has expanded the total contributions has nevertheless declined. The trend of the pledged contributions demonstrate one major indice, that of growing economic incapacity for many countries.

13. Regarding the actual payments made from the pledges to UNTFAD, the situation is as follows:

II. UTILIZATION OF UNTFAD RESOURCES

15. During the period 1989-1990 resources utilized to finance projects activities amounted to 1,283,084. The funds utilized represent the balance of prior year contributions from the payments effected in 1988 and 1989 and from part of the accumulated interests accrued under UNTFAD's general and specific accounts.

16. During the period under review, the ECA secretariat has made a very cautious use of UNTFAD resources. Given the decline in the overall pledged contributions to UNTFAD over the recent pledging sessions the Executive Secretary of ECA has maintained a strict surveillance to ensure that all projects proposals for financing under the extra-budgetary resources entrusted to ECA and especially UNTFAD undergo thorough scrutiny within the established mechanisms and using appropriate instruments including a special committee chaired by the Executive Secretary himself.
