III. Utilization of the Database	12
IV. Information already entered in the Database	22

Ms. Paule Assoumou Koki, Engineer and Consultant to ACW have developed the database on the Network of African Centre for Women from October 1998 to February 1999.

This database has been developed based on the specifications proposed by the consultant in May 1998 and adopted by the Centre.

These specifications were inspired by the experience gained by the consultant while managing the secretariat of the preparation of the Conference held in the occasion of the ECA's 40th Anniversary. Therefore they were written so to meet the day-to-day needs of the African Centre for Women.

The consultant has started to feed the database with information made available from the preparatory process of the ECA's 40th Anniversary.

The present manual presents the content of the database, how to use the database and the information already available in the database. To complete this manual, the consultant will have an interactive session with all the ACW staff so as every staff can really understand the "philosophy" of the database. Individual assistance will also be conducted during one week.

The consultant has tried the best to make a user-friendly database, to facilitate and encourage the use of the database. The database is an interactive tool on PC Computer, and should be used as such. The database has been made available on the Local Area Network (LAN) of the ECA. It can therefore be accessed from anywhere in the ECA, in any computer connected to the LAN provided that the administrator of the database has attributed a password.

This manual is merely a hard copy aimed at drawing attention to how the database could best serve ACW. Above all, the more the ACW staff will use, fill and modify the information inside the database, the more ACW will have a real efficient tool to support the Centre in its mission.

Finally, it is important keep in mind the major points below:

- a database can not run without an administrator. Therefore there is an urgent need to identify an administrator who will assist daily in the running of the database. The administrator will have also to interact with the consultant for problems discovered during the exploitation of the database.*

- Given the short time assigned to the consultant for the development of that database, the treatments of errors have not been done completely. (As well known by the computer-specialists, as soon as you draw a single line of code, you have a great probability to generate errors). The users of the database should therefore not be stopped by errors encountered but note them so as for the consultant to correct them in a future collaboration with the Centre. The administrator of the database will also assist in solving errors due to an incorrect utilization the level of a user.
- The database is on the Local Area Network (LAN) of ECA. The running of the database is therefore directly linked to the status of the network. However, the administrator will backup periodically the database on a local machine.
- A database is in constant development, through its contents of course but also through the additional actions that can be developed to use the information within the database. This version is just the first release of the database. If needed, the database could be upgraded with:
 - more actions to performed on the database,
 - the possibility to share the database in the Intranet for the consultation of other ECA staff,
 - the possibility to send it to Internet so as to make it available for the clients of ACW.

I. Justification of the database

The Objective

To realize its objectives, two major strategies of ACW are:

- Networking by bringing together institutions, agencies and structures concerned with the advancement of Women
- Disseminating information on the status of African Women and best practices for gender equity.

To realize these strategies, a good and broad knowledge of the largest number of the actors involved with gender issues, whether they are from the Continent or from elsewhere in the world, is crucial.

The African Centre for Women has therefore decided to set up a Database on its networks. The database will be a shared database on the ECA local area network.

b. The status of information on the networks of ACW before database

- Data were scattered among professional staff and support staff;
- Crucial data were often lost;
- There was no classification, no categorization of available data therefore there was no enough accuracy in targeting the clients of the Centre;
- There was no unique understanding nor standardization on the available data ;
- Neither sufficient record nor track was kept of the work accomplished with consultants, experts, etc.;
- It was so far difficult to manage a large number of invitations;
- No updated mailing list could be kept.

c. Some of the major improvements the database will bring to the African Center for Women

1. To keep in one unique place information on partners, clients, etc of ACW
2. To make this information available to all the staff and to share them
3. To allow each professional staff and selected support staff to enter information
4. To classify partners and resource person according to their area of activity, the type of their structure, their country , their region
5. To keep track of the history of resource persons, experts, etc
6. To allow information search by one criteria or by a combination of criteria (research by country, by area of activity, by classification, etc)
7. To be more efficient in targeting ACW's clients for meetings, publications, etc by selecting them according to their category, their area of activity, etc.
8. To manage invitations in a more efficient way

II. Information found in the database and actions that can be performed

1. The database contains information on the following items:

- Persons
- Organizations
- Meetings

Access to them is easy from any computer logged on ECA Local Area Network.

a. Information for a person

Information	Comment

Organizer	The division or person who has the first responsibility of the meeting. E.g.: ACW, COES, F. Wege, etc
Follow-up of the meeting	Persons invited, persons who have already confirmed, etc

2. The following actions can be performed on the database:

(Still from any computer logged on ECA LAN)

a. Search information

On

- Persons ,
- Organizations
- Meetings

E.g.:

- ✓ Search the address of Ms. Wanjiru Kihoro
- ✓ See the professional history of Ms. Eugenie Aw
- ✓ Find the names of the staff working at UNICEF-Abidjan
- ✓ See the area of activity of unknown NGOs
- ✓ Find the name of the manager of the ECOWAS
- ✓ Look at the list of those who have already been invited for the sixth African Regional Conference
- ✓ Etc

b. Extract one information or a group of information by applying a filter

On one or a combination of the following items:

- City
- Country
- Area of Activity
- SubRegion
- Region
- Category
- Classification
- Name of organization

e.g.

- ✓ Look at the list of Youth Organisations in Western Africa
- ✓ Look at the list of Ministers in charge of Education in North Africa
- ✓ Look at the list of Women Associations from U.S.A.
- ✓ etc

c. Add/Modify information

On

- Persons
- Organizations
- Meetings

E.g.:

- ✓ Complete the areas of activity of a partner
- ✓ Complete the bibliography of resource persons
- ✓ Add the information on an upcoming meeting
- ✓ Etc

d. Manage a list for a meeting or for publication dissemination

By

- Selecting persons according to their area of activity, their management level, their organisations
- Controlling the number of already selected versus the target number of persons
- Managing the list of participants for a meeting

E.g.

- ✓ Send the "Study on the Access to Land" to all the Organizations of Kenya working in the area of Land
- ✓ Invite private associations of Cameroun to the subregional trade fair in Libreville
- ✓ etc

e. Printing predefined reports

- Listing of persons, listing of organizations , listing of resource persons
- List of participants of a meeting

Other reports can be added easily as the exploitation of the Database is going on and the staff define itself in a more precise way, its need.

f. Exporting selected data to Word or Excel

III. Utilization of the database

Definition of few concepts

1. A database is a collection of information on given items.

For e.g., the present database is a collection of information on three items: Persons, Organizations and Meetings.

The items are predefined when drawing the specifications of the database. Only the administrator of the database can add an item to the predefined ones.

2. A record in a database identifies a unique entity.

For e.g., information on the person Almaz Tebebe represents a record within the item "Persons". If we have information on 1500 persons, therefore, the database has 1500 records.

If you want to add a new person in the database, you will add a new record.

3. A field represents the "unit" of information for each record.

For e.g., "Name of Organization", "Abbreviation", "Area of activity", are some of the fields of a record from the item "Organizations".

A field name can be changed or remove only by the administrator of the database. Field names have also been predefined based on the specifications of the database.

However, you can modify the content of fields (provided you have the appropriate authorisation).

The buttons of the database

The buttons are essential for an efficient utilisation of the database.

Make an intensive use of the button and especially the sort buttons, filter buttons, find button to find easily your information!

- * Consult the general information on a person
- * By a click on the adequate button:
 - . Consult the area of activity
 - . Consult the bibliography
 - . Consult the passed/futures invitations
 - . Write a letter to the selected persons
 - . Go to the screen for adding/modifying information

The screenshot shows a web-based form titled 'PERSON INFORMATION CONSULTATION'. At the top, there are three buttons: 'Write a letter', 'Add / Modify', and 'Back to Main Menu'. Below these are input fields for 'First Name' (filled with 'Amare') and 'Last Name' (filled with 'Gizaw'). There are also fields for 'Address', 'Organization' (filled with 'Yamare Solar Energy - Bio Gas RD'), 'City' (filled with 'Addis Ababa'), 'Country' (filled with 'Ethiopia'), 'Sub Region', and 'Region' (filled with 'Africa'). Further down, there are fields for 'Sex' (filled with 'M'), 'Nationality', 'Email1', and 'Email2'. A section titled 'Other Informations' is on the right. At the bottom, there are four tabs: 'Bibliography', 'Passed Invitations', 'Future Invitations', and 'Area of Activity'. Annotations with arrows point to various parts of the form:

- A large arrow on the left points to the top section, labeled 'General Information on the person'.
- An arrow points to the 'Add / Modify' button, labeled 'Modify the information of the person/Add a new person'.
- An arrow points to the 'Area of Activity' tab, labeled 'Area of Activity of the person'.
- An arrow points to the 'Bibliography' tab, labeled 'Professional History of the person'.
- An arrow points to the 'Passed Invitations' tab, labeled 'Passed Invitations of the person'.
- An arrow points to the 'Future Invitations' tab, labeled 'Future Invitations to the person'.
- An arrow points to the 'Other Informations' section, labeled 'Other information on the person'.
